Research. Use these questions to help you research your chosen piece. Record your research in your notebook. If you would rather type your work, it will need to be printed and stuck in.

1. Who was the original author/composer/choreographer of your chosen piece?
2. When and where was it first performed?
3. Any famous or notable performances of this piece?
4. What is the intended mood and style/genre?
5. What are the key themes and ideas of the piece?
6. Was the piece created for a specific purpose?
7. Who was the original target audience?

Other things to consider. Write in full sentences and explain your answers.

What sort of event might you perform this piece at?

Where might be a suitable performance space for a performance of this piece?

Who would be your target audience?

How will your research impact your performance of this piece?
